

Customer

- Microsoft in Education
- Education organizations

Objective

- To describe how schools and school systems can utilize advanced data analytics to better achieve the goals in education

Implementation and deliverables

- White paper describes how modern technologies offer new opportunities for education system effectiveness, better learning outcomes, and personalization of learning
- Includes technology trends and case studies

Feedback

- “Analytics is offering new opportunities in education and Steamlane is a partner offering both the technology skills in advanced analytics and capabilities to create innovative solutions for education.”
 - Kati Tiainen, Director of Business Development
Microsoft Education

